

Image from SFFS

Donna Pucciani

In Memoriam

You will show
your grandchildren
photographs

That was Miami,
the sandy stretch of beach
now slid into the ocean

This was a glacier
a mile high, a giant Aleutian
diamond, its points

lost in the heat that melts
Morocco and Madrid

---

Donna Pucciani has published poetry worldwide in The Pedestal, Italian-Americana, Poetry Salzburg, Shi Chao Poetry, Agenda, Meniscus, and elsewhere. Her seventh and most recent book is Edges.